By Faruk Arda Yeğenoğlu

Chapter 1: Exposition

288 years from now, humans found the medicine for unageing, immortalis-8. During this time period, religion was fading away.

World War 3 was done against the religious people who were against the idea of immortality and the people who believed in science. Even though all 3 of the religions were united, they weren't able to defeat the followers of the since.

After the war there was a new empire established by the east. The war and the amount of people who don't age caused the resources on this planet to almost drain. The emperor saw the solution on the colonies over Mars and the Moon, but there was not enough space in the colonies nor enough spaceships to take enough people into space. During this time of despair, people who took the virus started to get a disease that would kill you in just 8 days.

So the emperor got 8 of the best scientists ever born to search for a cure. One of these scientists was Akif. He is a person who always questioned life and the meaning of creation. But never got to read religious text, simply because it is said that it brainwashes people.

Chapter 2: The First Day Of Work

On the first day of his work, he gets letters and different contacts sent to him, by the “religious terrorists” or the resistance as they call themselves. But he tried to ignore it. He didn’t want to report them, because he could have gotten kicked out of his job.

Chapter 3: The Decision

In the following months, they finally found the cure and were going to do a test the next day. But on the night of the very same day, he felt disturbed and went through the religious texts sent to him and he found a pattern. All of the crises happening was a sign of the day of judgment getting closer. Everything finally made sense; the disease wasn't a curse, it was a blessing. It happened so that the resources on the earth could reflourish. The next day, the Emperor, his son, wife and the major admirals came to the work to witness the cure. Akif knew he had to do something; so he took the chemicals from the lab and started burning all the research. The fire spread on the machinery and exploded the Emperor, the lab, the cure, and Akif with it.
